

Education - A gateway to well-being for all children

Join us on 18 November to celebrate this year's World Children's Day and the 32nd anniversary of the adoption of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) by the UN General Assembly. This year, we mark this important milestone with a critical discussion on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted children's rights to education and their right to be informed about their rights (Article 28 & 42 of the UNCRC respectively).

Join us on 18 November to celebrate this year's World Children's Day and the 32nd anniversary of the adoption of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) by the UN General Assembly. This year, we mark this important milestone with a critical discussion on how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted children's rights to education and their right to be informed about their rights (Article 28 & 42 of the UNCRC respectively).

Professional perspectives from four countries – Italy, Romania, Spain and the UK – will be featured.

With the EU prioritising 'school success' and catalysing investment in early childhood education and school (through the Child Guarantee and the European Education Area), this webinar will be a timely discussion to shine a spotlight on innovative solutions that can help children in the most vulnerable situations and put a brake on the education inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Interpretation from English to Romanian will be available during the event.

Interpretation from Romanian to English is also available upon request.
